"DIE WALKUERE" SUNG AGAIN.

"Die Walkdre." with which Mr. Walter Damsh opened his season of German opera on Monlay sight was repeated at the Metropolitan Opera se yesterday afternoon. "Siegfried" had been sunced for the matinee programme, but had to be withdrawn in consequence of the continued ndisposition of Herr Kraus, who was to have sung title role. The cast of "Die Walkure" yester was identical with that of the opening night, except that Herr Ernst was substituted for Herr Kraus as Siegmund. The substitution did not, howerer, lend any additional interest to the perform-ance; on the contrary, it decidedly weakened it, Herr Ernst is not a singer of the calibre deanded by the star-adoring New-York opera-goers of the present day, and neither is he an artist to be classed with his associates in the cast, Frauen mann and Gadski and Herr Fischer. His work was conscientious and earnest, and his acting ed, but his veice falled to meet the require nts of the part. A HALF-PROMISE OF LETTY LIND.

A dispatch from London received in this city yesterday said that Miss Letty Lind was to come to America to appear at the Olympia Music Hall. At Olympia last night it was said that nothing certain was known about it. Miss Lind had tele-graphed an offer to Mr. Hammerstein, but he though: that the terms were too high. His agent, Alfred Aarons, was still in London, where he had been for four weeks, and it was not known what arrangement he had made with her or whether he Miss Letty Lind was here eight years ago, with the London Galety Burlesque Company. She and Miss Sylvia Grey at that time were virtually the intro ucers of the skirt dance in this country, though the dance was not original with them. They danced it better than any one else ever did here, before or since, and they did all that they could to redeem the insufferable idlocy of the Lendon burlesques that the company performed. Regret has often been expressed that they did not return, though the rest of the company, with the exception of Fred Leslie, who is now dead, has never been missed much.

Miss land has filled engagements in London almost constantly since she returned there. She was the original in the part of Molly Scamore, in 'The Geisha.' at Daily's Theatre, in London. The part is the one which was played here originally by Miss Violet Lloyd, and is now played by Miss Virginia Earle.

AT THE IRVING PLACE THEATRE.

The Irving Place Theatre company performed Oslast night for the first time, before a large and ap-preclative audience. The central figure in the incidents which make up the play was a bright and vivacious young woman who had won fame on the stage before she married a Hungarian nobleman. As the widow, Countess Fritzi, she appears in Berlin society among people who have no knowledge theatre career, and while defending the stage she surprises her nostess and friends by saying that she had been on the boards. Disgusted with the prejudices of society and its aversion to a woman of the stage, she resolves to drop her title and resume the place for which her taient has fitted her. At the last moment, when sie is happy in the thought of winning new laurels, a lover conquers, and the stage is poorer by the artist, but two mornis are made happy. A SONNET TO GREECE.

Hail, little nation with a noble name!
Hail, minor kingdom with a King indeed!
The giant empires, in a ring of greed,
Steed allent, watching, spiritless and tame,
Like almost special spiritless and tame,
Like almost spiritless and spiritless and teacherous creed,
And ravaged like a dragon, breathing flame.
Of or a fearless champion to meet
Inis loathly monster with the sword, and smite!
Listen, a voice from Athens rings through Crete:
Will dare the dragon! God defend the right!"
Hail, new St. George! thou bringest brave release
To captive isles, and glory back to Greece!

THE EXPERIENCE OF A SCHOOL TEACHER WITH THE POLICEMAN WHO LOST HIS WAY UNDER BROOKLYN BRIDGE.

For stopping a fight between two newsboys in 671 East One-hundred-and-thirty-ninth-st., was arrested by Policeman Henry H. Hayward and dragged to the Oak-st. station, where he was charged with disorderly conduct.

Mr. Faulk found the two boys fighting on the sidewalk. They stopped long enough to explain that they were friends, but were settling a dis-Seeing no policeman around, the teacher separated the combatants by force, but while he was doing so Hayward, who is a new member of reached the scene, and upbraided teacher for interfering. When the latter replied that as a citizen he had only done his duty, and should do so again, the policeman arrested him. When Sergeant Hatton, before whom Mr. Faulk story, he began an investigation. Mr. Faulk had been accompanied by two of his pupils, William Golden, of No. 304 East Seventy-eighth-st., and Anson Firth, of No. 224 East Seventy-ninth-st. Both corroborated his statement. The sergeant, when he heard that, refused to entertain the policeman's complaint and discharged Mr. Faulk from custody Then the sergeant told Hayward that he had ex-

Walter Camp, of Yale, delivered a lecture on "Modern Athletics" before the Schoolmasters' Association of New-York yesterday morning in Hamliton Hall, Columbia University. Arthur Cutler, president of the association, presided. Mr. Camp. n the course of his lecture, said that most people when they did not approve of a thing immediately proposed to have a law passed abolishing it. This had been the attitude assumed by many toward athletics, but wise men now saw that athletic legislation should at present be slight and teniative. The world of to-day demanded a strong-er, sturdier race, and the college of to-day must turn out men who were fitted to hold their own in the race of life, not only mentally but physi-cally. "Regarding the brutality of foetball," said Mr. Camp, "a large proportion of the current talk of the day must be taken with the usual grain of sait." He told of well-known men who played with him at college. As to how much time should be spent upon physical training at college. Mr. Camp said he considered three hours a day the correct allowance. Of the remaining hours, eight should be given to sleep and the rest to study. A discussion followed the lecture. tentative. The world of to-day demanded a strong-

ARRESTED FOR PRESERVING THE PEACE. MRS. MARY JOHNSON'S WILL.

A NUMBER OF BEQUESTS TO ROMAN CATHOLIC INSTITUTIONS.

Park Row last night, Julius Faulk, a teacher in the Vandewater Night School, who lives at No. WILL CONTEST THE DISPOSITION OF HER WILL CONTEST THE DISPOSITION OF HER PROPERTY ON THE GROUND OF > UNDUE INFLUENCE. Mrs. Mary Johnson, a widow, who lived at No. 2,013 Madison-ave., died there on Wednesday from heart disease. She left a fortune estimates to be worth from $500,000 to $800,000. The greater part of estate was bequeathed to Roman Catholic institutions and prelates. A few relatives were remembered in the will, and many others, who claim close relationship, were ignored. The latter have declared their intention of contesting the will.

Mrs. Johnson, who was sixty-five years old, was born in the town of Ross, Cork County, Ireland. She came to this country in early life with her father, one Lovejoy, and her brother Stephen. The father, who was in the junk business, in Pike-st. and who died many years ago, left a considerable fortune to his sen. The latter increased his inheritance. His sister was married and had a son, but her husband and child both died. Lovejoy. who was a bachelor, built a handsome house at Madison-ave, and One-hundred-and-twenty-eightnst, twenty years ago, where he lived with his sister until he died, about three years ago.

Mrs. Johnson inherited her brother's estate, which consisted largely of dwelling-houses and business structures at Rutgers and Madison sts., in Catherine-st., and Lexington and Madison aves. Mr. Lovejoy and his sister were devout Catholics and members of the Church of All Saints, at One-hundred-and-twenty-ninth-st, and Madison-ave., which he presented an expensive altar and other gifts before his death. Mrs. Johnson's funeral was held at that church yesterday forenoon, the Rev. Dr. James W. Powers, pastor, officiating. The body was taken to Calvary Cemetery, where it was deposited beside that of her brother, in a stately mausoleum which he had caused to be built before his death, at a cost of from $25,000 to $50,000. Many persons attended the funeral, including a large number of alleged heirs to the fortune.

After the funeral the recognized and alleged relatives assembled at the house in Madison-ave isten to the reading of the will by Daniel Whitford, counsel for the executors, who are the Rev Dr. Powers and Daniel J. Quinlan, of the Bureau of Steam Boiler Inspection in the Police Departmen Following are the principal bequests: To Ellen Donovan, Julia F. Healey, Ellen Lovejoy, Kate Donovan and Mary Walsh, first cousins, and phen Lovejoy Donovan, a second cousin of Mrs. Johnson, sums ranging from $500 to $1,000 each; to Mary Kelley, an old servant and confidential companion, $2,000 and some furniture panion, $1,000 and some furniture.

Bequests to Catholic institutions and clergymen are as follows: St. Joseph's Sendinary, Yonkers, $2,000, New-York Orphan Asylum, $3,000, Sochuty for the Protection of Roman Catholic Children, $2,000; Mission of the Immaculate Virgin for the Protection of Destitute Children, $2,000, Conference of St. Vincen: de Paul of All Saints' Church, $1,000; Sisters of the Poor of St. Francis, attached to St. Joseph's Hospital for Incurables, $3,000, Sisters of the Poor in charge of St. Francis Hospital, $500, Home of the Lättle Sisters of the Poor for the Aged, $1,000, Nuns of the Order of Visitation, Park-ville, Queens County, N. Y. 2,000; Conference of St. Vincent de Paul, of St. James's Church, James-st. $500; Bishop of Ross, $1,000, for relieving the poor, $1,000; the priest and assistant of Ross-carberry $250 each for the same purpose; Paulist Fathers, Fifty-ninth-st., this city, $500; Missionary Sisters of the Third Order of St. Francis, Peckskill, N. Y. $2,000.

carberry, 130 each for the same party. Staters of the Third Order of St. Francis, Peckskill, N. Y. 12,000.

The residue of the estate is to be divided as follows: One-third to St. Joseph's Seminary, one-third to All Saints' Church, one-ninth to the Orphan Asylum; one-ninth to the Society for the Protection of Destitute Children, and one-ninth to the Mission of the Immaculate Virgin.

In conclusion the will provided that if any one or more of the bequests for religious, charitable or benevolent purposes should be declared void for any causs whatever, such bequest or bequests should be given to Archbishop Corrigan "to have and to hold for his own use and benefit absolutely and forever."

There were thirty men and women who claimed to be cousins of the dead woman present at the reading of the will. They unanimously declared that Mrs. Johnson must have been unduly influenced and that they would contest the will. The cousins who were mentioned in the will stoutly averred that the claimants were not cousins, and there was considerable excitement. Messrs. Whitford and Quinlan denied that there had been any undue influence used and said that the bequests were such as would naturally be made by such a devout Catholic as Mrs. Johnson. The Rev. Dr. Powers was absent.

GENERAL LEE'S FAMILY TO LEAVE HAVANA Havana, March 13.-The family of Consul-General Lee will return to the United States within two weeks. This is thought to be preparatory to a change in the Consulship.

STILL ANOTHER AMERICAN RELEASED. Washington, March 13 .- Consul Hance, at Cardenas, Cuba, telegraphs to the State Department that Frank J. Larrieu was released from prison there yesterday. Larrien's case had not attracted much attention, and while this Government had been interested in it for some time. It does not appear that any special efforts were made in his behalf. According to the records at the State Department, Larrien is a native of Cuba, naturalized in this country. He was arrested at Cardenas May 15 last on charges never made known, although a demand for the information had been formally made by Secretary Olney.

MRS. BUIZ'S PETITION PRESENTED.

Washington, March 13.-The petition of Mrs. Ruiz, widow of the dentist Ricardo Ruiz, was delivered to Secretary Sherman to-day. It covers eight pages of note paper, the last of which is devoted to signatures, and is wholly in Spanish. The Sec-retary has given no intimation of what his action will be, and until the petition is translated he will not determine what disposition to make of it. It is strongly intimated, however, that Mrs. Ruiz can not rely on speedy relief from Spanish sources through pressure exerted by newspapers.

BERMUDA'S REGISTER TO BE RETURNED. Halifax, N. TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

Chicago, March 13.—William Drossel, a carpenter, living at No. 182 Fullerton-ave., shot his wife yesterday afternoon and then put a bullet through his own brain. Drossel died instantly, and the woman is in a semi-conscious condition. The deed was the result of a family quarrel.

on the interest of the Edison Electric Light Com-pany. He established branches in nearly all of the principal commercial centres Returning to this city, he assisted in the practical development of the system here. Later he was actively inter-ested in the company formed for the manufacture and introduction of the phonograph. He leaves a widow and a daughter. Buffalo, March 13.—Henry Traphagen, a short-term prisoner in the Eric County Penitentiary, sent here from Olean on January 8 for vagrancy, died this morning from a wound in his throat inflicted by himself with a piece of tin early yesterday morning. The prison guards say he had been show-ing signs of insanity for a week past.

Ansonia Conn. March 13.—Eugene Barton, who is wanted by the authorities of Nelsonville, N. Y. to answer for forgeries, was arrested here this morning Barton was Clerk of the village of Nelsonville and a member of the Board of Trustees of the school district. He will return to Nelsonville without the formality of requisition papers.

Buffalo, March 13.—Mrs. George Sergeant, sixty years old, was probably fatally burned in a fire which occurred in the rear of her small candy store, at No. 288 Maryland-st, where she lived with her husband, late last night. In a shed was stored about twenty gallons of kerosene, which in some way became limited. The firemen aroused the inmates, and Mrs. Sergeant, awaking in a dazed condition, rushed out of a rear door and into the burning shed. She was terribly burned before she was rescued.

Canandaigua. N. Y. March 13.—Owing to the negligence of a switchman, who turned a switch the wrong way last night, the Baltimore express train and a freight train on the Northern Central Railroad came into collision here, resulting in considerable damage to both engines. No one was injured, although the passengers on the southbound train were thrown about the coaches in a promiseu-

SIXTEEN PEOPLE OVERCOME BY GAS.

Boston, March 13.-Sixteen people were overcome by gas about 8 o'clock this morning at Nos. 12, 14 and 16 Armstrong-st., Roxbury. The leak is supposed to have been in a main of the Brookline Gas Company. There are no gas jets in these houses, and the gas is supposed to have entered the cellar. The people are all out of danger.

WURSTER APPROVES THE TUBE BILL. Albany March 13 .- Senator Ford's Pneumatic Tube bill has been returned to the State Senate by Mayor Wurster of Brooklyn with his approval. John Chinaman, who ought to know his ground, has a theory that plague comes out of it—that it is a miasm, whereof it peases him to regulate the infectivity upward, thus: Rat, pigeon, pig: dog, goat, sheep; cow, buffalo, man, according to the respective heights above ground of the breathing apparatus in each instance. John Chinaman is fanciful nerein, no doubt. But not wholly so, There is a substratum of fact to his theory, to which the unearthing of the Khasato bacillus bears winess in a way. For where rats are not, there is no proper plague. So soon as you cross the line in Southern India where the extensive family of the Murine ceases, and the bandicoot begins, you are where plague has never been heard of yet. And where true plague is coming, here the rats die first. So true is this, that in the Maudy, quarter, where plague first broke out among the population of Bombay, the rats had been dying by thousands for a month, and perhaps for two months, of a disease in all essential respects identical with that which subsequently attacked the human, whereas, in colouits, where merely benignant plague prevailed. the rais die first. So true is this, that in the Maodyi quarier, where plague first broke our among the papulation of Hombay, the rais had been dying by thousands for a month, and perhaps for two months, of a disease in all essential respects identical with that which subsequently attacked the human, whereas, in claicutta, where merely benignant plague prevailed, never a rat was the worse.

One need not be as ingeniously fanciful as the Celestial to find in his theory an explanation of the plague's preference for land travel, and of the deplague's from the city to Soho; and it has taken just a month more to cover the distance—some thirty miles by land—between Hong Kong and Macao. In the latter case it need not have gone by land. Shorter and easier routes were offered it. There was a stream of refugees, thousands strong. There were steamers, junks and flahing boats plying to and fro all day and long shore route. Still, when you have to do with an Antinomian of this callbre, it would be scarcely wise to rely too much of its presumed antipathy to sea younges. For, whether it came to Hombay by sea or not, it undoubtedly took shipping from Hombay to Greenwich, and thereby accomplished one of the most remarkable journeys it has ever made.

The steamer it selected left the Indian port in the last days of August—ten or twelve days, that is, before the first case of plague was not admitted to the Greenwich Seamen's Hospital till the beginning of the third wask in September. The patient, who up to that time that have a dear admission. The second case, from the same ship, was received at the hospital on the last day of October. He demised no less promptly. Both were plague cases beyond question. And the authorized perfed of incubation for a plague case is not three weeks, nor
